DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to Applicant's amendments filed on 9 March and 2 June 2009.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 3-10 are allowed. Claim 10 is the independent claim.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest prior art of record is U.S. Patent 6,536,780 to Baumann et al., which was applied to the claims in the office action mailed 10 December 2008. Suffice it to say, the patent to Baumann et al. does not disclose "the projection (6) including an interruption - which leads into a groove (8) -for each of the "rotate-into-engagement profiles" (14), at least one "rotate-into-engagement profile" (14) and the associated groove (8) being situated relative to the at least one profiled element (15) and the associated profiled recess (7) in a manner such that, when the "rotate- into-engagement profile" (14) glides into the associated groove (8), the profiled element (15) is guided into the associated profiled recess (7)" as claimed in independent claim 10, and as such does not anticipate the instant invention as disclosed in independent claim 10.

Furthermore, there is no combinable teaching in the prior art of record that would reasonably motivate one having ordinary skill in the art to so modify the teachings of Baumann et al. While Baumann et al. does teach a groove for a projection and a locking profiled element, Baumann et al. does not teach a bayonet movement at the end of the groove for activating the locking of the profiled element. Other prior art references teach the use of a bayonet locking movement for holding a tool in a chuck, but do not teach the use of a profiled locking element, only relying on the bayonet lock for holding the tool in the chuck. Thus, for at least the foregoing reasoning and without the use of a hindsight combination, the prior art of record does not render obvious the present invention as set forth in independent claim 10.

It is noted that the "means" statement in independent claim 10 is not a proper invocation of 35 USC § 112, paragraph 6, as the "means" statement does not use the phrase "means for", the "means" statement is not modified by functional language, and the "means" statement is modified by structure for achieving the specified function. Therefore this claim and its dependent claims have not been treated as if they invoke 35 USC § 112, paragraph 6.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
